B3595 BANGKOK (USA, 2006)

Credits: director/writer, Colin Drobnis.
Cast: Abel Johnson, Daniel Miller, Aaron Smith, Aaron Nash.
Summary: Road film/coming-of-age melodrama set in contemporary Georgia, Thailand and Cambodia. Paul Harding (Johnson), recently discharged from the Army after seven years of screw-ups, suddenly becomes focused on the death of his father. Recently declassified documents reveal that the father did not die in Vietnam, as first reported, but on a secret mission in Cambodia. Paul sets off on an impulsive journey to find the spot where his father’s plane crashed. Along the way to the Cambodian crash site, Paul is joined by two traveling companions: a pickpocket (Miller) and a post-graduate student (Smith). This odd group of strangers in a strange land gradually develop a friendship.
