D4207  DEADLY GAMES  (USA, 1979; released 1983)
(Other titles: Who fell asleep?)

Credits: director/writer, Scott Mansfield.
Cast: Sam Groom, Denise Galik, Dick Butkus, Steve Railsback, Jo Ann Harris.
Summary: Horror film set in the contemporary U.S. A small town is being terrorized by a masked killer who is murdering women. Keegan Lawrence (Harris) is a writer for a national music magazine who has returned to her home town for a visit. She believes the killer to be either Roger Lane (Groom), the town’s policeman, or Billy Owens (Railsback), the manager/projectionist of the local theater. Lane and Owens have been buddies since their service in Vietnam where Owens was badly scarred.
Keegan devises a plan to find out which is the actual killer.

Cohn, Lawrence L. “Deadly games” Variety 312 (Sep 28, 1983), p. 16.
Weldon, Michael. The psychotronic video guide New York : St. Martin’s Griffin, 1996. (p. 144)