Summary: Melodrama set in contemporary Canada. Khuyen (Kim Lieu), nicknamed Lulu, is a young Vietnamese woman who has made a marriage of convenience with a besotted Canadian petty criminal named Lucky (Rhoades) in order to get herself and her family out of a Hong Kong refugee camp and into Canada. Her parents, both in failing health, blame Lulu for their lot. Meanwhile, Lucky’s younger brother Clive (Johnson) is also taken with Lulu and willing to break up his family in her pursuit.
