Credits: director, Jack Bender; writer, Percy Granger; play (The middle ages), A.R. Gurney

Cast: John Ritter, Mel Harris, Polly Bergen, Dakin Matthews.

Summary: Melodrama set in the contemporary U.S. Barney (Ritter) is the black sheep of his wealthy country club family. Eleanor (Harris) is the irresistible woman he loves. The only thing standing in the way of happily-ever after is Eleanor’s husband who happens to be his brother. The movie chronicles their 25 year relationship. In the late 1960’s, Barney serves as a naval officer and he sees some duty in Vietnam, entering into a relationship with a Vietnamese woman whom he tries and fails to get out of the country.