Credits: director, Michael Carson ; writer, John Misto.

Summary: Murder mystery set in contemporary Sydney, with flashbacks to the 1960s. Four one-time hippies who lived together in the ’60s are reunited by a skeleton in their past. A fifth companion whom they knew as Sonny and believed to be a draft dodger, but who could have been an undercover security agent, was killed in a fall (or was he pushed?) from a balcony. They buried him in the cellar. Now the house they shared is about to be demolished. When they decide to dig up the bones and rebury them elsewhere, long-buried secrets and grudges also emerge and they realize their past has died of “natural causes.”
