Summary: Max Swift (McCaffrey) is hired by a seemingly innocuous woman who believes someone is trying to kill her. It turns out she is living with a false identity. She was one of four anti-war radicals who robbed a bank in 1972. During the robbery, a bank guard was killed by one of the four, who was also a Vietnam vet. The shooter was thought to have been killed in a car explosion during their escape, but it turns out the vet staged the whole thing for the money and is now trying to kill off the other three to protect his identity.
