Series summary: Detective drama about the Missing Persons Squad of the Federal Bureau of Investigation set in the contemporary U.S. The sole responsibility of the special task force is to find missing persons by applying advanced psychological profiling techniques to peel back the layers of the victims’ lives and trace their whereabouts in an effort to discover whether they have been abducted, been murdered, committed suicide or simply run away.

Kam Li (3/13/2003)

Credits: director, Randall Zisk; writer, Jacob Epstein.
Summary: Malone and the team search for a recently retired U.S. Army Lieutenant Colonel who disappeared following a dinner in his honor given by former members of his Vietnam platoon. The LTC was guilty of murdering his black sergeant in Vietnam to cover up a rape (by the then Lieutenant) of a Vietnamese woman in Kam Li village. The one soldier who knew what happened confessed to the other platoon members 30 years later and they arrange the murder of the LTC. He agrees to commit suicide to insure his daughter will get his death benefits.
