Series summary: Science fiction/mystery series set in contemporary Arizona.

Allison DuBois (Arquette) is a strong-willed young mother of three, a devoted wife and law student who begins to suspect that she can talk to dead people, see the future in her dreams and read people's thoughts. Fearing for her mental health, she turns for support to her husband Joe (Weber), an aerospace engineer, who slowly comes to believe that what his wife is telling him just might be true. The real challenge is convincing her boss, D.A. Devalos (Sandoval) -- and the other doubters in the criminal justice system -- that her psychic abilities can give them the upper hand when it comes to solving violent and horrifying crimes whose mysteries often reside with those who live beyond the grave.

Aftertaste (3/3/2008)

Cast: Patricia Arquette, Jake Weber, Miguel Sandoval, Gregory Itzen.

Summary: Devalos (Sandoval) tries to reclaim the D.A.'s office but Allison's support of Devalos is tested when she has visions of Senator Jed Garrity (Itzen), Devalos' strongest political supporter, involved in a horrible conspiracy. Garrity is an ex-Vietnam POW, who led a group of other starving prisoners to murder and consume one of their comrades who was already dying of dysentery. Forty years after the event, one of the survivors threatens to tell all and the rest of the group murder him. One of these then confesses to the murder, claiming he acted alone. Allison confronts the Senator with the visions she has had, but he is unapologetic for his actions (in the past or present).
