“Surveying Student Engagement and Success at La Salle University” (NSSE)

May 19, May 20, May 21

May 19: Tuesday (9:30-12:30) Music Room-Union Building: Dr. Jillian Kinzie, Associate Director, Indiana University Center of Post-Secondary Research and Institute for Effective Educational Practice

This session will introduce the research behind the student engagement concept, highlight the power of “high impact” practices and NSSE’s deep approaches to learning. It will provide an occasion to reflect on La Salle’s NSSE results and an opportunity to dialogue with faculty and staff to consider the use of additional questions on writing, and the faculty NSSE survey, and departmental use of the NSSE results.

Dr. Kinzie coordinates research and project activities to facilitate the use of National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE) data to promote educational effectiveness. She is co-author of Student Success in College: Creating Conditions that Matter (Jossey-Bass, 2005), One Size Does Not Fit All: Traditional and Innovative Models of Student Affairs Practice (Routledge, 2006), and other books and articles.

May 20: Wednesday (9:30-12:30) Music Room-Union Building: Dr. Jaime Longo, Post-Doctoral Research Fellow, Writing Across the Curriculum, and faculty from the disciplines

This session will focus on writing as a “high impact” activity, especially in classes with thirty five students or more.

May 21: Thursday (9:30-3:00) Music Room-Union Building: Margot Soven, Core Director; Michael Roszkowski, Director of Institutional Research, Marjorie Allen and Madeleine Dean, English Department and others

To: University Community

From: Matthew S. McManness

Subject: Business Affairs Staffing Changes and Updates

I am writing to inform the University Community that Kathleen M. Burns, Assistant Vice President for Finance, has resigned from her position effective May 15, 2009 for personal reasons. Kathy has agreed to work with the University past her resignation date in order to help us with some critical and timely financial systems projects.

I am pleased to announce that Rebecca Horvath, University Controller, will be promoted to the position of Assistant Vice President (AVP) for Finance, effective May 16, 2009. Please join me in congratulating Rebecca on her promotion.

In addition to Rebecca becoming our new AVP for Finance, we will undergo a reorganization of the Finance area and make some adjustments to current roles. While the reorganization of positions will save funds in the operating budget, it will also allow us to fill two positions in order to support our financial operations, annual audits, and year-end closing processes. Therefore, we are recruiting for the positions of Assistant Controller and Senior Accountant and expect to fill them by early summer. If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact me at your earliest convenience.

Thank you.

ILLEGAL PARKING IN THE ADMISSION OFFICE VISITOR SPACES

There are seven (7) reserved parking spaces that are set aside for use by the families of prospective students when they visit the University’s Admission Office for the purpose of touring or possible admission to this University. These spaces are located at the rear of Faculty/Staff Lot-E and they are clearly identifiable by signage, as well as, the reserved spaces being painted green in color.

Over the past month security personnel have found that some faculty, staff and students have been illegally parking in those spaces. This type of conduct by University affiliates has created difficulties for visitors to this campus. On occasion it has been found that some violators have not displayed their parking permit on their parked auto in an apparent effort to avoid being identified. Nonetheless, parking tickets have been and will continue to be issued in these instances.

In a further effort to discourage unauthorized parking in the Admission Office spaces, violators will be subject to receiving a $25.00 fine in the future. Your understanding and cooperation is appreciated.
