You are invited to explore the Catholic and Lasallian heritage of La Salle University this school year through the writings of John Baptist de La Salle.

Five 90-minute sessions (one each in November, December, February, March, and April) are planned. Writings will be reviewed with scholarly rigor while maintaining an informal ‘book club’ atmosphere.

Topics include:

- The Personal La Salle: de La Salle’s personal and professional journey in light of his personal biographical writing taken from various stages of his life;
- La Salle the Educator: de La Salle’s pedagogical principles, teaching strategies, his observations about decorum and civility and his classroom innovations;
- La Salle the Founder: de La Salle’s ability to structure the pedagogical initiatives of the community and his leadership in the management of the association of teachers responding to the educational needs of youth;
- La Salle the Catechist: de La Salle’s approach to evangelization through education, the writings regarding Christian initiation in the church and faith development;
- La Salle the Spiritual Guide: de La Salle’s spiritual journey and his role as spiritual mentor to others, his writings to support the spiritual development of those involved in education, especially his teaching about work and prayer.

Through these topics, we will address the challenge of translating De La Salle’s vocabulary and his educational mission into our world. It is our expectation that Symposia participants will supply additional topics and angles of approach.

For the fall semester, symposia will be held on Thursday afternoon November 12 and December 10 beginning at 3:30 p.m. at a location to be announced. Each session will be led jointly by Brother John Crawford and Brother Miguel Campos. All reading materials will be provided free, as will refreshments at the discussion sessions.

Seating is limited. Those interested in participating should notify the Office of Mission Integration by Wednesday, October 14. Please contact Ray Ricci via email at ricci@lasalle.edu or by phone at campus extension 1079.
