October, 2010

There is a Mexican proverb that says that we die three deaths: the first when our bodies die, the second when our bodies are lowered into the earth out of sight, and the third when our loved ones forget us. Christians forestall that last death by believing that the dead are still with us, still members of the Church, alive in Christ. All Soul's Day (sometimes called the "Day of the Dead") is November 2. It is a Roman Catholic day of remembrance for friends and loved ones who have passed away. It is celebrated with masses and festivities in honor of the dead. The living pray on behalf of their family members and friends who have preceded them in the great journey of death.

Many customs are associated with The Day of the Dead celebration. In some homes an altar is made with pictures of loved ones who have died. Flowers, candles and incense help to remind us of the sanctity of life and of ultimate goal of eternal life that awaits all of us. For the second year La Salle University we will have our own altar remembering our deceased family members, friends, and members of our community.

An altar will be set up in the De La Salle Chapel where members of the community can leave pictures of loved ones. The variety of pictures will remind us of the diversity of our community and the webs, here at La Salle, in our own homes and in our communities that are part of who we are as Lasallians. Members of the community who would like to have a picture at the altar should bring or send it the UMAS office by the end of October. If you put your name and a campus mail address on the back, they will be returned to you at the end of the month. The altar will remain in place for the month of November as a special place of prayer and remembrance of the great cloud of family, friends and colleagues that surround us. The usual remembrance cards that are sent out by the Advancement office will also be placed at this altar.

On Tuesday, November 2, 2010 at the 1:00 p.m. Liturgy there will be special prayers commemorating those whose pictures or names are at the altar.

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord;
and let perpetual light shine upon them.
May they rest in peace. Amen.
Medical Ethics and Biological Ownership

Michael Pruscan, Ph.D., Chemistry
Wednesday, October 20, 3:00 p.m.
Holroyd Lobby (Free Food)

Many of us have undergone some type of medical procedure in our lifetime—testing, surgery, blood transfusions, and more. But what happens to those “biological samples” obtained from us—living donors—during such procedures? And who owns them? Is it the individuals from whom they are harvested, the physician or researcher who performs the procedure, or the university or institution that provides facilities, funding or oversight for clinical care and research? At this café we’ll be discussing the question of “biological ownership”—an ethical issue critical to the future of biomedical research that has been the subject of much debate and confusion in recent years.

Explorer Cafés are every Wednesday at 3:00 p.m.
Open to all.

WHO AM I?

The following Lasallians correctly identified Dr. Neubauer: Marie Cantwell, Marianne Gauss, Kathi McNichol, Dina Olesiak, and Kyra Spoto.

If you have a photo of yourself from the past and would like to be featured, please send it along with a clue to the above e-mail address or to Campus News, Box 187. All prints of photos will be scanned and returned.

NEXT ISSUE—ANOTHER “Who Am I?”
Beginning this past Monday, October 11, certain offices within Finance and Administration have begun their relocation to the West Campus. This move allows the Human Resources and Student and Accounts Receivable offices to expand their current spaces on the first floor of the David L. Lawrence Administration Center to better serve the University’s students, parents, faculty, and staff.

The following offices are moving to the former Germantown Hospital building that used to house the MRI Center, location #12, on the campus map:

- Accounts Payable and Procurement
- Payroll
- Finance and Administration Information Systems (FAIS)
- Office of the Controller
- Office of the Assistant Vice President for Finance

During this past week, personnel from these offices have remained available on the first floor of the Administration Building.

Beginning the week of October 18, 2010, the offices mentioned above will be fully operating from their new location. For the University community’s convenience, secure drop boxes for Accounts Payable, Procurement, and Payroll will be placed on the first floor of the Administration Center.

Please note that University offices are closed on Monday, October 18, for the mid-semester break.

Chair, Education Department

The Education Department at La Salle University is seeking qualified candidates for the position of Department Chair. The department is comprised of graduate and undergraduate programs that prepare teachers for initial certification and provide advanced study and certification to already certified teachers. Certification areas include Early Elementary, Special Education, Middle Level Education, Secondary Education, Literacy, Autism, Classroom and Behavior Management and School Leadership.

We are an engaged department in the midst of significant program development and revision. The chair is the primary representative of the department and its programs. Most important will be the ability to provide vision and leadership that enables us to continue along a trajectory that does justice to St. John Baptist de La Salle, the Patron Saint of Teachers. For us, this includes program advancement, with a focus on critical reflection, using a developmental perspective, and a concern for social justice.

Minimum requirements include an earned doctorate in education, a record of accomplishment worthy of tenure and appointment as an associate or full professor, and evidence of effective leadership and administrative experience.

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter addressing one’s qualifications for the position, three letters of reference, and transcripts to the following:

Search Committee Chair
Education Department
La Salle University
1900 W. Olney Ave.
Philadelphia, PA 19141

Review of applications will commence immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Instructional Designer

La Salle University is looking for an Instructional Designer to support the design and delivery of courses and materials, incorporating sound instructional principals. The instructional designer will also design, develop and facilitate training on instructional systems and topics.

Responsibilities:

- Developing instructional design projects for fully online and blended courses.
- Supporting faculty in the development of electronic course materials, including the incorporation of multimedia content (images, video, audio, publisher content and electronic library materials).
- Assisting in the development and presentation of training programs, designed to increase competence and confidence with online educational technology.
- Providing first and second-tier support to faculty and students in the use of instructional systems such as Blackboard.
- Researching advances in instructional technology and recommending various products for use in course development and delivery.

Qualifications:

- Master’s Degree in a related field or equivalent work experience.
- Working knowledge of learning management systems such as Blackboard.
- Experience with some of the tools used for instructional development, such as Articulate, Captivate, and Photoshop.
- Experience in the development of electronic course materials for online courses.
- Excellent communication and organization skills.

This full-time position offers a competitive salary and benefits package, including tuition remission. To apply, please submit a portfolio of work, résumé or C.V., and cover letter to the following:

John Caputo
Senior Instructional Designer
La Salle University
1900 W. Olney Ave.
Philadelphia, PA 19141

Application materials may also be e-mailed to actjobs@lasalle.edu. Applications will be reviewed as they are received until the position is filled.
