The Lasallian Distinguished Educator Award

2011-12

A Call for Nominations

The Lasallian Distinguished Educator Award (LDEA) is given annually to honor the men and women who have put into practice John Baptist de La Salle’s vision of committing oneself to the real needs of students. Each year, Lasallian schools across the nation are invited to name honorees and in this way preserve the memory of Saint La Salle and the work of Lasallian educational movement.

The LDEA Review Committee invites the campus community to submit nominations for the 2011 award. All faculty, staff and administrators are eligible for consideration except for those who have already been honored. The Committee encourages you to nominate a member of the La Salle community who meets the general qualifications for the award as described on the reverse side of this announcement. A statement in support of the candidate should accompany the nomination.

I ask that you submit nominations to me by April 15 either via campus mail (box 801) or via email.

Should you have any questions regarding this award, please feel free to contact me.

Thank you,

Ray Ricci

The Lasallian Distinguished Educator Award

The Lasallian Distinguished Educator Award is given annually to honor the life, the vision, and ideals of John Baptist De La Salle, the namesake of the University, the founder of the Christian Brothers, and the patron saint of teachers.

The award is given to those who exhibit in their daily lives a commitment to Lasallian priorities and traditions: the paramount importance of teaching in a values framework; of working together to build genuine community; of service and sensitivity to the needs of others particularly the poor and marginalized; of demonstrating respect for the uniqueness of the individual student. This award recognizes those who have opened their hearts and minds to these ideals and devoted themselves to this work.

Award winners build others up and encourage the heart. They teach by example. By doing so, they help colleagues and students experience the University’s heritage and its distinctive Lasallian character. To paraphrase the words of St. La Salle, they “put into practice what we want our students to believe.” As a result, they continue to give life to the values that have animated and sustained the University for almost 150 years.

The Lasallian Distinguished Educator Award is open to all faculty, staff and administrators. Previous honorees are not eligible for consideration.

Human engagement is critical in distance education. Instructional transactions, when used effectively, can be adapted to meet the needs of today’s learners. One instructional method, the Discussion Board, can effectively be used to promote learner engagement by supporting the ways iGeneration, Millennials, X and Y Generations and Boomers interact in the course room.

END-OF-SEMESTER SCHEDULE
The end of the semester always has its own set of stresses. This year many individuals from senior faculty to freshmen students may find it more stressful because of where the Easter break falls. Easter is Sunday, April 24, and the Easter break is from April 22 to April 25.

The last two weeks of classes are only four days each: Monday, April 18, to Thursday, April 21, and Tuesday, April 26, to Friday, April 29. These two weeks are followed by finals May 2 to May 6.

Being aware of short weeks, deadlines, final exams, and papers and adjusting workloads accordingly will go a long way to alleviating stress and anxiety for everyone.

STRESS BUSTERS WEEK
Peer Educators are hosting several events on campus the week of April 26. They are fun ways to deal with stress:

Tie Dye Tuesday
Tuesday, April 26, 12-2 p.m.

Glee & Ice Cream in Bernard and Neumann Lounges
Tuesday, April 26, 7:30-9 p.m.

Cookies and Coffee in the Library
Wednesday, April 27, 8-10 p.m.

Walk at Work Day (Co-sponsored by the Health Affairs Committee and Human Resources)
Thursday, April 28, 12:30 p.m.

Kissing and Petting
Thursday, April 28, 4:30-5:30 p.m.

Look for further details in the coming weeks.

RESOURCES
There are also many resources on campus to help deal with stress, especially for our students. Some of the more obvious are the Student Counseling Center, Learning Support Services, and Academic Advisors, but RAs, coaches, advisors, and former professors all can help. Being able to talk to someone you trust is one of the best ways there is to relieve stress.

If all of us are aware of the upcoming short weeks, timelines and most importantly each other, we can make these weeks less stressful than they need to be.

A Call to Action:
Fighting Hunger in Our Own Backyard

Monday, April 11, 1:00p.m., Holroyd 190

“Right now, millions of Americans are struggling with hunger. We all know and are in contact with people affected by hunger, even though we might not be aware of it.”
—Feeding America, 2011

According to Feeding America, 1 in 6 Americans face the reality of hunger every day. What’s more, 1 in 4 people—a quarter of our city’s population—is at risk for hunger in Philadelphia. But what can we do about it? This panel will focus on realistic ways we can get involved in helping “drive hunger from our communities.”

Panelists:

- Christine Leistner, Greater Philadelphia Coalition Against Hunger
- Emily Rhodes, Greater Philadelphia Coalition Against Hunger
- Tina Rothfuss, Philabundance
- Royer Smith, La Salle University’s Executive Chef
- Kaitlyn Linsner, La Salle Senior and Volunteer with the Greater Philadelphia Coalition Against Hunger

This event is a part of the Hunger and Ethics Series at La Salle.

Sponsored by the Essential Question, The Explorer Connection (as part of its Sustainable Development Series), and Catholic Studies.
Playing God, Being Human: The Role of Humility in Inquiry

Jordan Copeland, Ph.D., Religion

Wednesday, April 13, 3:00 p.m.
Holroyd Atrium (Free Food)

The expression “playing God” is commonly employed as a precautionary principle in discussions concerning controversial moral issues. This is particularly true in the area of Bioethics, where scientific, moral, and religious questions intersect. However, considering the frequency with which this expression is used, there have been surprisingly few attempts to explain what we mean when we describe an action or attitude as “playing God.” The goal of this talk is to spur a conversation that might move us in this direction.

Explorer Cafés are every Wednesday at 3:00p.m. Open to all.

Thursday April 14, 3:30 p.m.
Holroyd Lobby (Free Food)

The Labyrinth is an ancient symbol used as a walking meditation to assist people to manage stress, make decisions, and access physical, emotional, and spiritual wellness. Found in many and varied traditions throughout history, the Labyrinth has recently been revived as a healing and restorative tool that crosses social, cultural, and religious boundaries. As a circular symbol, the Labyrinth is an archetypal image that represents wholeness, healing, inclusiveness, and community. What is it about the labyrinth that has allowed it to endure for over 5,000 years in so many different cultures? Why are people still drawn to the labyrinth in 2011? Come experience the labyrinth for yourself.

There will be an additional opportunity to walk the labyrinth from 1:00-2:00 p.m. in the Holroyd Lobby for those unable to do so at the café. All are welcome.

Please note the special day and time for this Explorer Café (rescheduled from January 26, 2011).

This café will be in addition to our Wednesday café on April 13, 2011.

LA SALLE PROUD WEEK: April 11 - 15

Students for La Salle is hosting a week-long marketing and fundraising campaign on La Salle’s campus to promote the importance of philanthropy, increase school spirit, and educate students, faculty and staff about the value of giving back.

Anyone making a minimum donation of $10 to the La Salle Fund to support student scholarships during any La Salle Proud Week event will receive a free t-shirt!

Stop by one of the following events to participate in La Salle Proud Week and pick up your t-shirt:

Monday, April 11: La Salle Proud Week Kick-off Event, Union Patio, 1-2:30 p.m.
Join us for live music, free Tastykakes, and watching student teams participate in a Tastykake Cake Building Contest, judged by local celebrity alumni Jillian Mele, Al Lee, Drew Lazor, Breanne Ward, and David Murphy. La Salle faculty and staff who are also La Salle alumni are encouraged to attend and be recognized!

Tuesday, April 12: Students vs. Faculty and Staff Competition, La Salle Union, 12-2 p.m.
Stop by to make your gift as part of a friendly competition between faculty/staff and students! We will have tables set up outside of the food court as well as outside of the Faculty Dining Room. We’ll also be tracking which school/department makes the most donations this day. Payroll deduction forms will be available so making your gift is easy. Students making donations will have the opportunity to make their gift in honor of their favorite faculty or staff member.

Wednesday, April 12: Baseball Tailgate, Behind the Baseball Field, 1-3 p.m.
Come by the tailgate party to show your support for La Salle Athletics, and stick around to cheer on the baseball team members in their home game against Penn. Chipotle will be handing out free burritos!

Marketing Business Law Faculty Positions, Tenure Track (2)

La Salle University’s School of Business invites applicants for full-time, academically qualified tenure track, 9-month positions. This is an opportunity to join a dynamic AACSB accredited School of Business. These positions will play a vital role in course and program development and in university social justice and ethics initiatives. These new faculty will be working across all departments to enhance preparing students to understand the legal issues they may face in their careers. A key aspect of our mission is constructive engagement and involvement with students and their professional and personal development. The fit with this mission is critical to success in the positions.

Responsibilities include:
- Teaching undergraduate and MBA courses with legal, ethical and related business topics, with a typical teaching load of 3 courses per semester
- Advising undergraduate majors
- Creating new course offerings and improving existing offerings
- Maintain a publication and research record consistent with AACSB accreditation standards for academically qualified personnel
- Participate in School of Business and university service work
- Organize and act as faculty advisor to student professional groups

Candidate qualifications:
- Law degree from accredited institution
- Current and active licenses to practice law
- Prior teaching experience at the university level
- Corporate and related business experience
- Involvement in professional organizations
- Demonstrated record of publishing in appropriate academic outlets and promise of continued publications

Possession of an MBA degree from an AACSB accredited institution is a plus.

Interested applicants should send a cover letter addressing their qualifications and a current C.V. to the following address by April 29, 2011:
