Information Regarding the Option to Decline the Meningitis Vaccine

Meningococcal disease is a serious bacterial illness of the brain and spinal cord. It can cause complications like loss of a limb, deafness, seizures, mental retardation and death. College freshman living in dormitories have an increased risk of getting meningococcal disease.

The best way to prevent the disease is through the Quadravalent (types A, C, W-135, Y) meningococcal vaccine. The State of PA requires college students to either obtain this vaccine or read this information and sign a waiver of refusal. Vaccines cannot prevent all types of this disease but it can significantly reduce your chances. If after reading about this disease you decide to decline it, you must sign the vaccine refusal line on page one of this health form.

There is an additional new meningitis vaccine for type B, which is recommended by the Center for Disease Control, but not required. Discuss this with your doctor. For more information on meningitis visit: cdc.gov/meningitis.
